About me

I am a passionate and hardworking programmer who loves the challenges and creativity of coding. Every day I seek to learn more and grow professionally because I enjoy it. I am a well-mannered teammate with good communication skills and I perform well in group projects. I love to innovate and solve problems and I always try to improve my skills and knowledge. I am confident that I can bring my technical skills and positive attitude to any team.

Work Experience

In the pursuit of hands-on experience, my self-led projects in Python have paved the way to this exciting opportunity to grow as a back-end or AI junior/intern.
